ALLEGED NEO-NAZI ACCUSED OF PLOT TO MURDER MP

22-year-old charged with intention to commit 'terrorism' attack with machete

AN alleged member of a banned neo-Nazi group has appeared in court accused of plotting to murder Rosie Cooper with a machete and threatening to kill a police officer.

The 22-year-old, who cannot be named for legal reasons, appeared at Westminster Magistrates Court charged with intention to commit terrorism, namely buying a Gladius machete to murder the West Lancs MP.

He is alleged to have purchased the machete between June 5 and July 3.

He also faces a charge of a threat to kill a detective constable and of being a member of a proscribed organisation, National Action. He allegedly made the threat on July 1.

Christopher Lythgoe, 31, from Warrington also appeared, charged with giving the 22-year-old defendant permission on July 1 to murder Ms Cooper in the name of National Action.

Lythgoe and four other men - Garron Helm, 24, of Seaforth; Matthew Hankinson, 23, of Newton-le-Willows; Andrew Clarke, 33, of Warrington and Michael Trubini, 35, of Warrington - were also charged with being members of the organisation.

All the men, including the 22-year-old, are charged with being members of the organisation between December 16 last year and September 27.

Remanded

Applications for bail were refused and all the men were remanded in custody to appear at the Old Bailey on Friday, November 3.

In a statement, Rosie Cooper said: "I would like to thank everyone involved in this case, especially the counter-terrorism police, for keeping me, my staff and the public safe. There remains an ongoing criminal investigation so it would not be appropriate for me to comment further."

Supermarket staff aim to deliver cash boost for children's charity

A SUPERMARKET boss is aiming to deliver a bumper boost for a national children's charity by organising a football competition at the JMO Sports Park in Skelmersdale.

Derek Norris, an area manager for the German global discount supermarket chain, Lidl, is aiming to stage the event on Sunday, November 12 at the Blaguegate Playing Fields in Liverpool Road to raise money for the NSPCC.

More than 130 employees from Lidl stores throughout the North West and North Wales are expected to take part.

Derek, who has worked for Lidl for 21 years, said: "It really is a truly inclusive event we have cashiers, store managers, area managers, heads of sales and I have even managed to persuade our regional director into playing!

Amazing response

"We expect to have 15 teams from all over the North West and Wales lining up on the day. Teams are coming from Wrexham, Runcorn, Warrington, Wigan and as far north as Blackpool to take part.

"We will have more than 130 players giving up their time to support the event, as well as family and friends on the evening.

"The response I have had from my Lidl colleagues has been amazing I had no idea it would grow into such an event and hopefully it will raise a lot of money for the NSPCC."

The event will kick off at 5.30pm and refreshments will be included on the night.

Derek added: "Residents are more than welcome to join us for the evening and we hope to raise as much money as possible."

Council and partners aiming for a safe Bonfire Night

ENJOY yourself on Bonfire Night, but please stay safe, is the message from West Lancashire Borough Council and its partners.

The local authority, the Police and the Fire Service have action planned to help residents celebrate November 5 safely without any problems of nuisance or dangerous behaviour. Over the last 13 years the partners have worked to significantly reduce the number of unauthorised bonfires in the borough.

Cleansing operations have been improved, so any flammable rubbish can be cleared away quickly.

The council would also ask residents to present their bins to be emptied so that there is minimal waste around. Residents will have to pay the cost of replacing any wheelie bins damaged, and new bins cost £23 each.

The partners are also keen to enforce the message that fly-tipping is an offence, and it's important that all parties are additionally vigilant in the run-up to Bonfire Night in ensuring that waste is identified and removed.

In 2013, the council issued two formal cautions in this regard and officers will be looking out for anyone using Bonfire Night as an excuse to dump waste and will not hesitate to take appropriate action. The maximum fine for fly-tipping materials is £50,000.

Councillor Kevin Wilkie

Councillor Kevin Wilkie, West Lancs Council's portfolio holder for Street Scene, said: "We want to ensure this year's Bonfire Night is just as safe and enjoyable as previous years. We work closely with partners to combat anti-social behaviour and to remove any bonfires that do not comply with the rules on council sites."

In Skelmersdale, bonfires will only be allowed at eight specially-designated sites owned by the council. Bonfires can be built and lit from 4.30pm on Sunday, November 5.

The sites are: Abbeystead (on the right hand side on the grassed area); Alderley (left hand side on the grass by the subway to Pimbo); Bankfield (left hand side on the grass); Evington (left hand side by the play area); Eskbank (grassed area at the entrance); Hallcroft Field (grassed area by the play area); The Winsters (grassed area on right hand side); and Railway Road (grassed area to the rear of Woodrow).

Matt Hamer, Lancashire Fire and Rescue Service station manager for West Lancashire, said: "We are well prepared for Bonfire Night and enjoy an extremely productive relationship with our partner agencies".

West Lancashire Police Inspector Adrian Jolly added: "We will be working with other agencies to successfully tackle crime and anti-social behaviour on Bonfire Night and will deal robustly with anyone engaging in such behaviour."

If residents have concerns about a bonfire before it is lit they should contact the council on 01695 577177 during office hours.

If a bonfire has been lit outside the permitted times, is dangerous, or on private land, dial 999 and ask for the police and fire service. For advice call the fire stations at Ormskirk on 01695 572223 or Skelmersdale on 01695 723853.

MP speaks up for football club in row with landlord

WEST Lancs MP Rosie Cooper is urging Chequer Properties to offer a full and detailed explanation for its decision to lock Skelmersdale United out of their Uretek Stadium.

After bailiffs were sent in to the stadium the club have been forced to play their homes games elsewhere.

The explanation given for the decision by Chequer Properties was 'breaches of contract' by Skelmersdale United, relating to a claimed 146 dilapidation order to the value of £253,000 and sub-letting without consent.

The MP said: "I am horrified at the way this situation has been dealt with by Chequer Properties. Skelmersdale United has a proud history dating back to 1882, which is being undermined and threatened."

Chairman of Burscough FC, Mike Swift, appointed as spokesperson for Chequer Properies, said that a statement the owner had previously made still stands, but added that he would respond to the MP's comments in due course.

New website launched to promote town as a 'great place to do business'

Report by Henry James

A NEW website promoting Skelmersdale as "a great place to do business" is now available online.

Steve Jones, chairman of the Skelmersdale Place Board announced the official launch of letstalk-Skelmersdale.com at the latest Skelmersdale Ambassadors Network event.

It is hoped the business-focussed website will be the key in driving Skelmersdale forward.

The site will celebrate news from local businesses, give advice on available funding and support and provide information about the Ambassador network, which recently celebrated its first birthday.

Councillor Ian Moran, leader of West Lancashire Borough Council and cabinet member for economic regeneration, said: "LetstalkSkelmersdale.com will provide further proof that Skelmersdale is a great place to do business.

"Whether you are a business already based in Skelmersdale that is looking to grow or a company that is considering moving to the area, then take a look at this great website."

And Tony Rankin, learning and development manager at Hotter Shoes and a member of the Skelmersdale Place Board, said: "We are delighted to announce the launch of the Skelmersdale website.

"The website provides key information for businesses looking to invest in the area including business support, employment and skills, lifestyle and education.

"Further information regarding the Skelmersdale Place Board and Ambassadors is also available. We hope you enjoy it and agree that it promotes Skelmersdale as a fantastic place to live, work and do business."

Steve Jones, chairman of the Skelmersdale Place Board, talking about the website

People looking to invest in the area or expand their business can find a range of information about the town, as it stands and the future plans for growth.

Supporting the 'Green Growth, New Horizons' message from the Skelmersdale Storybook that was distributed to Ambassadors earlier this year, it highlights Skelmerdale's strengths as a place to do business.

Education and leisure in the region are also highlighted on the website as key factors towards recruitment, growth and liveability.

Additionally the site offers the opportunity for businesses to download and utilise the Skelmersdale visual language as part of their own branding and marketing, enabling Ambassadors to share their enthusiasm for the area.

Attendees at Ambassador events can see photographs taken of each session and those who were unable to attend can catch up by viewing videos of the key speakers too.

You can also follow the Let's Talk Skelmersdale team on the recently-formed Twitter account @ltSkelmersdale and on LinkedIn at www.linkedin.com/company/skelmersdale.

Dedicated David is honoured at social care charity's awards

A RURAL development officer from Skelmersdale is celebrating after being recognised for improving the lives of others.

David Ord (right), from the Central and West Lancashire Community Restart Service, was a winner at the Making Space Employee Awards, held to recognise the national health and social care charity's 35th anniversary.

He has been working with communities across central and west Lancashire for the last five years and was nominated for his determination and his innovative approach to his work with local communities, probation services, charities and mental health services.

Regularly working with up to 30 volunteers each week, David has instigated and managed many successful projects. Along with his team of volunteers, he mainly focuses on wildlife and environmental projects, helping people of all ages to connect with communities and increase their physical and mental fitness.

He was nominated for the award by his manager, Jackie Lewis. She said: "David works tirelessly to identify and implement opportunities for people to engage with communities via conservation work. He supports people to develop and sustain projects such as allotments, green spaces and wildlife areas, to name but a few. He's innovative and creative, and thoroughly deserves this award."

Rachel Peacock, chief executive of Making Space, added: "At Making Space we are very lucky to be able to recruit and retain such a high calibre of employees. The contribution made by each and every one of them means that we can provide the highest quality of care and support for our service users around the country.

"Our award winners, including David, are shining stars in a galaxy of commitment, innovation, passion and dedication."

Making Space was founded in 1982 to help improve the lives of those living with mental health conditions and their carers. Since 2012, it has also operated not-for-profit services for people with physical support needs, older adults, adults with learning disabilities and people living with dementia, as well as an increased number of support services for carers.

It employs almost a thousand people around the UK and runs 180 adult health and social care services.

Charity urges mobile phone users to check their contracts and their bills

OFFICIALS of independent charity group Citizens Advice are urging residents to check their mobile phone bills after it was revealed some major network providers were continuing to charge customers extra for a handset after it had been covered in their fixed deal.

New analysis by Citizens Advice found that customers of Vodafone, EE and Three who choose to stay on the same phone plan after the fixed deal ends do not get their bills reduced - meaning they are paying on average an extra £22 a month for a phone they have already paid off!

And the extra cost can be as much as £38 a month on average for contracts with high-range handsets like the iPhone 7 128/256GB, the Galaxy S8 and the Xperia XZ Premium.

For the iPhone 8 separate analysis by Citizens Advice found that customers with a 256GB model could end up being overcharged by £46 a month on average.

Many people take out a mobile phone contract with the cost of the new handset included in the overall price of the fixed term deal - the majority of which are paid off on a monthly basis for a period of two years.

Charged

At the end of the fixed term deal people have the option to stay with their network on the same contract, take out a new contract or move to another provider altogether.

But customers of Vodafone, EE and Three who stay on the same contract with their provider after their fixed term deal ends are still charged the same amount as when they were paying for the handset.

The research from Citizens Advice also found that:

- People aged over-65 are most likely to be stung - 23% of over-65s with a handset-inclusive mobile phone contract stayed in their contract for more than 12 months past the end of the fixed deal period, compared to 13% of people aged under 65.
- Overall, 36% of people with a handset-inclusive mobile phone contract stayed in the same contract after the end of their fixed deal period, with 19% staying in the same contract for more than six months afterwards.

Now the charity is calling on all providers to reduce their customers' bills when they stay in the same contract past the end of a fixed deal, to reflect the cost of the handset being paid for.

To make it clear to the consumer when they have paid off the cost of the handset in a contract, the national charity is calling for mobile phone companies to separate the cost of a handset from the cost of mobile phone services.

Guy Simpson, Advice Services manager at Citizens Advice Lancashire West said: "Check your contract and be aware of when the contract term expires.

"If you're unsure when this is, contact your mobile phone provider and ask them.

"There are many SIM-only deals at very low prices in the market, as well as other ways of buying a mobile phone to avoid this issues.

"And of course anyone who has a problem can always get in touch with Citizens Advice."

Dementia Friends
Alzheimer's Society's Dementia Friends programme is our biggest ever initiative to change
I'm a Dementia Friend
Hello, can you give me a little help?

Staff at Birch Green Care Home proudly display their Dementia Friends certificates

Care home staff join Dementia Friends programme

STAFF at Birch Green Care Home in Skelmersdale are among the latest groups to sign up to the Dementia Friends initiative by attending an information session with local Dementia Friends Champion, Joe Sherville.

The friendly and interactive sessions aim to increase participants understanding of dementia, and help them to think about the small things that they can do to make a difference to those affected by dementia in their community.

Joe Sherville said: "This is another step towards helping our community to become more dementia-friendly."

George's latest book gives a glimpse of town's picture postcard past

Report by Henry James

AUTHOR and historian George Orr, who has been collecting postcards of Skelmersdale since moving to the town in 1972, has brought them together for his new book entitled, appropriately enough, Postcards From Skelmersdale!

The fascinating collection features 94 black and white picture postcards of Skelmersdale dating from 1904.

The book is the latest literary effort by 69-year-old George whose earlier publications include A History of Skelmersdale & Lathom; Everton FC In The 1940s The Lost Decade; Everton FC Champions 1914-15 Over The Top; Everton Home and Away in the 1960s & 70s; plus Bob Dylan An English Fan's Scrapbook.

He said: "I believe I have the largest known collection of Skelmersdale postcards and thought I would put them into this book so other people can enjoy them.

"Inside this book you will see rare postcards, some with a description of how the postcard was addressed and the subject matter, others have strange scenes on, which were produced for a bit of fun but all are important in showing how Skelmersdale looked in years gone by."

As well as collecting Skelmersdale postcards, George also has other items that feature the town's name, including bottles, ornaments, and jugs.

However it is the postcards that dominate his collection.

George has spared no expense in acquiring some of the postcards in his collection.

He explained: "The main problem with collecting Skelmersdale postcards is if the scene displays a local coal mine or a railway station, other collectors who specialise in those fields, who might need a Skelmersdale Postcard to add to their collection, can drive the price sky high."

But George felt that if a postcard needed to be bought so people can find out about the town's history, then he would buy it.

One of the postcards in the book, only costs one penny, and was posted from Skelmersdale to the USA. It somehow found its way back to this country and was bought by George at auction.

The book shows that the majority of scenes printed over the years include local churches, coal mines, the town hall and Coronation Park.

Council apprentice wins regional award

AN apprentice with West Lancs Council has been honoured at the North West regional stage of the National Apprenticeship Awards.

Portia Taylor-Black, a support officer with the local authority's economic regeneration team, was named a winner in the Higher or Degree Apprentice of the Year category and will now go forward to the national finals.

The awards, now in their 14th year, showcase the successes and benefits of apprenticeships across England.

21-year-old Portia joined the council in December 2014 as an apprentice and is now a board member and ambassador for the Lancashire Apprentice Ambassador Network.

She was also a finalist at the Sub36 Lancashire Business Awards 2017.

Jacky signs off after 43 years with Fire Service

Report by Henry James

A GRANDMOTHER from Skelmersdale has signed off after more than four decades with the Merseyside Fire & Rescue Service Control team to spend more time with her family and enjoy some well-earned holidays!

During her 43 years in the job, watch manager Jacky Ryland said roles have changed enormously - she recalls using paper and pen when she first started at Hatton Gardens in Liverpool in July 1974 at 16.

And she says a combination of camaraderie, "great colleagues" and the variety of the workload were the key reasons behind her marathon stint her with the service.

After working her last night shift she was presented with a bouquet and certificate by Chief Fire Officer, Dan Stephens.

She said: "The chief made a lovely speech but I was too emotional to say anything. More people than I expected came along to wish me well. I was shedding lots of tears during my last days!

"I'll miss my great colleagues – we're like a big family, I spend most of the week with them.

"The people have made the job great for me – from the colleagues in control, to firefighters and all the other staff.

"I've had some brilliant laughs over the years. There have been some very amusing characters in this control room!

"The job itself was fantastic, really varied and interesting, you don't know from day to day what you're going to meet."

Certificate of Service
Watch Manager Jacky Ryland
In grateful recognition of 43 years service to the public of Merseyside

Jacky Ryland with her bouquet and certificate to mark her 43 years' with the Merseyside Fire & Rescue Service Control team

Jacky started as a control operator before being promoted to leading fire control operator and then watch manager.

And as well as Hatton Gardens, she has also been based at Bridle Road, Bootle and Derby Road, Kirkdale, while the Toxteth riots in 1981 and a fire at St John's Precinct in Liverpool city centre are among the most memorable incidents she has dealt with.

She said: "The Toxteth riots was a frightening time for people and very busy in the control room and for the firefighters.

"I was also on duty for two fires at St John's Precinct – one was a major one on a New Year's Eve and we had more than 20 pumps out on it."

During her stint Jacky has been trained up on countless different systems, progressing from that pen and paper beginning to the sophisticated computer systems used today.

"Another big change is that when I started one person would follow each incident through from start to finish – now the incidents are shared."

Missed

She admits it will be "strange" after working nights for so long and she will miss the job.

But she added: "I'm really looking forward to spending time with my two lovely grandchildren and I'm also planning to go on more holidays with my husband - top of my list is a walking holiday in the Peak District."

Meanwhile her manager, Pamela Sephton, said Jacky would be sorely missed.

"I have worked with Jacky off and on for the last 12 years and she has been a steadying influence on the watch and has been invaluable with her wealth of experience and knowledge always ready to help all.

"She was well respected and admired by all who worked with her and Fire Control will be left with a hole that will be hard to fill."

Call for clearer guidance on use of e-cigarettes

Report by Henry James

A SKELMERSDALE pharmacist is calling for clearer guidance on the use of e-cigarettes and vaping.

Shamir Patel, who is also the director of Chemist 4 U, has accused health bosses of failing to issue a uniform message on how people should kick the smoking habit.

He says GPs have been told to give "wishy-washy" advice to patients about there being little evidence to back up the benefits or harms of e-cigarettes and believes powers should instead be handed to pharmacists to offer advice and guidance on the best ways to quit.

According to latest figures, 17 per cent of people over the age of 18 in West Lancashire smoke, with Skelmersdale having the highest prevalence of smokers in the county.

In addition, 3.5 per cent of young people aged 11 to 15 across West Lancashire claim to be regular smokers.

Mr Patel said: "I'm seeing more people attempting to quit smoking through the use of e-cigarettes and vaping, but the problem is conflicting guidance. It's about time the Government made up its mind. As a pharmacist, what am I supposed to say to customers?

"I realise we don't have enough evidence to say one way or the other, but at some point the Government needs to make up its mind and send a clear message."

A new campaign by Public Health England as part of the recent Stoptober campaign, backed the use of vaping, listing it as one of their key stop-smoking tool, claiming that e-cigarettes are 95 per cent safer than tobacco cigarettes.

However, the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence does not endorse e-cigs or vaping, and GPs have been told to tell patients "there is currently little evidence on the long-term benefits or harms of these products."

They are not available on the NHS as they are not licensed as medicines.

Smokers are, however, given access to the stop smoking tablets, as well as nicotine patches, gum, lozenges, and mouth and nasal sprays.

Smoking is estimated to cost the NHS around £2bn a year taking into account the cost of treating diseases caused by smoking, including GP consultations, prescriptions, and hospital admissions.

Mr Patel said: "We need people to stop. And all the information we have points to e-cigs being the most effective way to do that. As a pharmacist, I think it should be within our powers to offer advice and guidance on the best ways to quit."

Minister hails village school's national test success

STAFF and pupils at a village primary school are celebrating after being named in the top 3% on schools in the country in national test.

Bickersaffe CE Primary School received a letter of congratulations from the Minister of State for School Standards, Nick Gibb in recognition of their achievements in phonetics.

In the letter, the minister commended staff and children at the school in Hall Lane for achieving 100% in the Year One Phonics Screening Check.

And he confirmed that the result placed the school in the top 3% of schools in the country.

Headteacher, Maggie Teachen, said: "The letter gave everyone a nice boost!"

The Phonics Screening Check was launched by the Department for Education in 2012.

It is a short assessment administered every June to all Year 1 pupils to ensure that they have the ability to correctly pronounce written words.

Fire station to host activity evenings for youngsters in run-up to November 5

Free programme is part of safety partnership's annual campaign

A RANGE of fun events and activities for young people, including Pulsar Laser Quest, are being held at Skelmersdale Fire Station in Tanhouse Road on Friday and Saturday, November 3 and 4.

The free Go4it programme has been organised by the West Lancashire Community Safety Partnership as part of its annual Bright Sparx Campaign.

Activities will run from 5 to 8pm on both evenings and are open to all age groups but children under 11 must be accompanied by a responsible adult.

Youngsters can show off their football skills in penalty shoot-out and beat-the-goalie games, test their nerve on a simulator game of the television show Wipe Out, or have a go on the carousel funfair bouncy castle.

Other attractions will include Safe Archery, Air-Inflated Basketball, 5-a-side football competitions and face painting and nail art organised by Lancashire County Councill's Wellbeing, Prevention and Early Help Service, who will also have staff members supporting the event.

Safe environment

Matthew Hamer, Lancashire Fire and Rescue Service station manager for West Lancashire, said: "Young people from the Skelmersdale area can attend Skelmersdale Fire Station over the two nights where we provide them with plenty of enjoyable activities.

"The station will be a safe environment for local young people, which assists with reducing the risk of people being hurt in fire-related incidents. It also provides somewhere that is fun for the young people to enjoy themselves and engage with the other supporting agencies."

Dave Tilleray, West Lancashire Community Safety Partnership chairman, commented: "Go4it activities provide a lot of fun for young people and are a big part of the Bright Sparx Action plan which aims to reduce anti-social behaviour around this time of year."

And Councillor Kevin Wright, West Lancs Council's portfolio holder for community safety, added: "I am really pleased the Community Safety Partnership has been able to organise these fun events once again. I am sure the young people of Skelmersdale will really enjoy them."

Community urged to see what Tree House has to offer

THE Tree House Gallery in Sandy Lane, Skelmersdale is hosting a range of exciting activities in the coming weeks.

Children can enjoy some free creative activities on Wednesday and Friday, 1 and 3. Morning sessions run from 10.30am to 12.30pm, with afternoon sessions from 1.30 to 3.30pm and children of all ages are welcome but must be accompanied by an adult.

A free, six-week painting course for adults (16-plus) starts on Saturday, November 4 with sessions from 10.30am to 12.30pm. All abilities are welcome and sessions include basic drawing skills and developing skills in perspective and composition with paint.

Meanwhile, the Tree House Gallery, Gift Shop and Café, run by the Friends of Sandy Lane community interest company and supported by West Lancashire Borough Council, is going from strength to strength.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, the council's portfolio holder for leisure, said: "The Tree House Gallery, gift shop and cafe is a great attraction for Skelmersdale so come along and see what it has to offer."

The first floor space of the Tree House has been developed, providing opportunities for makers of handmade clothes and accessories and much more. Regular space rental is available throughout the unit.

There is also a second room upstairs that can be hired for workshops and courses.

Individuals looking to gain employment skills, gain confidence and work within a varied environment can volunteer, with all training being provided.

If you would like to get involved with Friends of Sandy Lane call into the Tree House at Unit 116 Sandy Lane Centre or ring 07860 617 353. Opening times are Tuesday to Saturday 10am to 4pm.

County council grants will help fund Vets' trips

SKELMERSDALE Veterans' Association have received grant funding from Lancashire County Councillors Terry Aldridge, John Fillis, Julie Gibson and Nikki Hennessy.

The money will be used by the veterans for visits to the Military Tattoo at Birmingham and the Eden Camp just outside York.

It is hoped that these trips will allow new and old members to build friendships. The veterans now have about 25 members and meet at The Hare and Hounds on Ormskirk Road.

Meanwhile Councillor Aldridge, who is chairman of Lancashire County Council, and Councillor Fillis also dropped into the Concourse shopping centre to help the veterans sell poppies for the Royal British Legion appeal alongside collection organiser, Harry McKenzie and chairman of the vets group, Alan Lewis.

Alan Lewis said: "We would like to thank both councillors for their support with our collections. During the collections we have received a great response from the public, including young people.

"Although some people say bad things about the youngsters of the town lots of them donated without taking a poppy."

And the veterans are keen to expand their links to the younger generation by doing school visits. For more information contact Alan Lewis on 07939660048.

Chance to view council's Housing Annual Report online

RESIDENTS can find out about the work of West Lancashire Borough Council's Housing and Inclusion Service over the past year by viewing its annual report on the authority's website.

Each year the council produces the Housing Annual Report for tenants which details what the service has achieved over the previous 12 months.

This year the report is done as an eye-catching infographic and can be found at www.westlancs.gov.uk/annualreport.

Councillor Jenny Forshaw, the council's portfolio holder for housing and landlord services, said: "Tenants will find the annual report interesting reading. Housing and Inclusion Service staff can be very proud of the work they do. The service continues to provide excellent value for money through our partnerships and tendering processes by ensuring we get the best quality at the best price."

West Lancs Council provides more than 6,000 homes for tenants.

Working to deliver housing that meets the needs of local people, including affordable housing, and aiming to be a top performing landlord are important priorities in the borough's Council Plan.

The Housing Annual Report highlights some of the Housing and Inclusion Service's achievements for 2016/17.

These include: ● Helping 595 tenants into their new homes ● Spending £6.7m on investment to properties ● Supporting almost 1,500 tenants by providing rent and money advice ● Collecting £96,000 of rent arrears from former tenants.

The Annual Report also tells tenants how much rent was collected in the course of 2016/17 and how their rent is spent.

There is also information showing some of the ways the council is investing in the future, such as improvements to its direct debit collection processes and ways it gathers customer feedback.

Funds available for community and voluntary groups

COMMUNITY, charity and voluntary organisations in West Lancashire are being invited to apply for revenue grants from a borough council funding pot of £136,000.

Councillor Claire Cooper

The council will consider applications from registered charities, voluntary organisations, community interest companies and social enterprises that operate for public benefit.

Potential beneficiaries of the funding must be operating in and serving the residents of West Lancashire. Previous recipients include the Council for Voluntary Services, the Citizens Advice Bureau, Dial a Ride, Homestart and Bereavement Counselling Services.

If an application is approved, funding will be granted for the 2018-2019 financial year.

Councillor Claire Cooper, West Lancs Council's portfolio holder with responsibility for grants to voluntary, community and charity organisations, said: "The council is very aware of the huge impact many of these organisations have on the community and would like to support them as much as we can.

"With an ever-shrinking council budget, we're trying our best to continue this funding stream for the benefit of our residents and we are keen to receive applications from organisations operating in West Lancashire, however small or large."

For more information, including clear criteria and an application form, visit www.west-lancs.gov.uk/grants.

Groups can also get more information and an application form by contacting Sue Griffiths on 01695 585097 or by email at susan.griffiths@west-lancs.gov.uk.

Foam and fun day banks £1,500 for worthy causes

FIREFIGHTERS from Ormskirk and staff at the HSBC bank in neighbouring Southport were joined by family friends as they swapped their hoses and calculators for sponges and soap to stage a charity car wash.

The fun and foam event at Ormskirk Fire Station in County Road raised £750 on the day for the Firefighters Charity and the Guide Dogs for the Blind with HSBC Bank generously matching that pound for pound, to make a grand total of £1,500 to be divided equally between the two causes.

Firefighter Rick Waller said: "It was great day all around with plenty of fun."

More bus and rail strikes spell chaos for commuters

Arriva staff plan walkouts on every Monday in month plus Wednesday stoppage to coincide with rail dispute

Arriva bus services will be affected.

COMMUTERS are set to face more travel chaos with bus drivers at Arriva to hold strikes on each Monday in November, plus an additional stoppage on Wednesday, November 8 when Merseytravel and Northern train services will also be affected by a walkout by RMT staff.

The bus strikes are is expected to hit all Arriva services in the Merseyside and Lancashire.

Arriva North West regional managing director, Phil Stone said: "It is extremely disappointing that, having tabled a third improved pay offer for our drivers in a meeting with our union colleagues, the unions remain intent on continuing to cause unnecessary disruption and inconvenience to our customers.

"Whilst our focus has been to reach an agreement, theirs is to come up with yet more strike dates. We have offered a fair deal for our drivers and one that supports the sustainability of the business.

"We would urge the union, yet again, to strongly reconsider the improved offer put forward and call off the strike action.

"We would like to reassure customers that we will continue to do all we can to resolve the situation and wholeheartedly apologise for the inconvenience that this will cause. We want to also remind them to continue to check their routes before they travel."

Unions say they are asking for a 'fair and reasonable pay award" and described the offer by Arriva bosses as "pitiful."

The 24-hour walk-out by Merseyrail and Northern rail staff on Wednesday, November 8 is the latest in the ongoing dispute over the proposed introduction of driver-only trains.

Council 'out of touch' claim after call to tax student landlords fails

Report by Kenny Parker

AN independent Ormskirk councillor has accused the ruling Labour group on West Lancs Council of being out of touch with the concerns of residents in the borough after his motion calling for the authority to request powers to bring student landlords within the scope of business rates was defeated at Full Council.

Councillor Adrian Owens, Our West Lancashire representative for Derby ward, put forward the motion pointing out that student landlords don't pay for public services their tenants use because student accommodation is currently exempt from business rates and student households are exempt from council tax.

Cllr. Owens said: "West Lancashire currently loses £1.3million in council tax annually from student accommodation which is exempt. Presently, the Government provides a grant to cover this loss, at least in part. However, there will be no grant funding by 2020 meaning further reductions in local services.

"Students are a very welcome part of our community and our local economy, but live in concentrated areas of the borough in densely-populated conditions which has a big impact on services. Student households should continue to be exempt from council tax, as students are on low (and loaned) incomes. Student landlords however, are profit-making businesses and should pay properly for the demands their business model makes on public services."

Councillor Adrian Owens

However, the motion failed to gain the support of the council's Labour members, while the Conservative group, who had earlier staged a walk-out of the meeting, were not present when the matter was debated.

Following the meeting, Cllr. Owens said: "Labour showed themselves out of touch with the concerns of local residents about the unfairness of the situation."

Despite the setback though he said Our West Lancashire would continue to collect signatures for a petition in support of the proposal - which already contained more than 500 names - to be sent to the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

David Smith, policy director of the Residential Landlords Association, said: "There are sound reasons why students are exempted from council tax. To charge similar rates to landlords letting to students will drive up their rent by the same amount and is little more than a stealth tax."

Meanwhile, Councillor Adam Yates, the council's portfolio holder for finance, responded; "While not all Labour members voted against the motion, many members felt that it failed to address the core issues of long-term local government funding and challenging rogue landlords.

"The motion from Cllr. Owens talked about a figure of £1.3m when the actual figure is closer to just £150k, which of course we receive from central government as part of the Revenue Support Grant.

"As presented, the motion would simply lead to landlords cutting back on maintenance or increasing rents, so would do nothing to address their tax contributions to our community. Rent increases would also have a damaging effect on the private rental market, pushing up rents for working families and young people."

Musical fundraiser for historic church

SUPPORTERS of a historic, Grade 1 listed church have organised an evening of lively musical entertainment to raise funds for ongoing maintenance.

The Wigan Ukulele Band will provide the tunes at the concert being staged by The Friends of St Michael's Church, Aughton on Friday, November 10.

This will be held at the church in Church Lane, starting at 7.30pm and tickets, including a hot-pot supper and a glass of wine, are £11.50 for adults and £5 for children.

Anyone requiring tickets for the evening is asked to contact Jean on 01695 422269 or Ann on 01695 421387.

Public views invited on borough's parks and open spaces

RESIDENTS in West Lancashire are being invited to have their say on an important new study by the borough council into outdoor places where people enjoy spending their leisure time.

The Open Space Study will set out to audit existing places in West Lancs such as parks, recreation grounds, allotments, nature sites and play areas.

It will also consider the supply of and future demand for open leisure spaces in the borough and form an important piece of evidence for the emerging West Lancashire Local Plan by identifying future priorities for open space.

An important part of the study will be to obtain the views of residents and local interest groups about the quantity and quality of open spaces, accessibility to them and what improvements should be made.

In order to gather these views an online survey has been produced which is available for completion via the council's website. This can be found at www.westlancs.gov.uk/consultation.

There is also a shorter online survey for children of primary school age.

Both surveys are available for completion until Friday, December 1.

Findings from the audit and the online survey will then be used to produce a report assessing open leisure spaces in the area, identifying standards of provision and making recommendations for the future.

The study is expected to be completed by March 2018.

Councillor John Hodson, West Lancs Council's portfolio holder for planning, said: "This is an important study for West Lancashire and I would urge local people to get involved."

For further details contact the council's strategic planning and implementation team by calling 01695 585393 or by email at localplan@westlancs.gov.uk.

Motorists aren't the only ones who pay for our roads

I FEEL sorry for some recent correspondents.

There's Kevin from Aughton who is still paying 'Road Tax' despite it being abolished in 1937! He probably meant the emissions-based Vehicle Tax, of which bicycles are exempt.

His 'privilege of driving down roads' is paid for by everyone (including people with bicycles) who pays income tax, council tax, even VAT. But let's not let facts get in the way.

Then there's Doug and Frank who've had their important journeys momentarily inhibited by 'lycra-clad' cyclists. I trust they will write in to inform everyone each time they suffer a temporary delay.

Heaven forbid they get stuck behind a jodhpur-clad horse rider, or some hi-viz-clad bin men, or an overall-clad farmer in a tractor, or a white and red-clad level crossing.

Or a fur-clad dog being led across a zebra crossing, a chino-clad Sunday driver dawdling down a country lane, or a beige-clad pensioner confused at a busy junction.

Or a leather-clad teenager on a 50cc scooter, or school uniform-clad children crossing the road with a lollipop lady.

Or a handcuff-clad drunk being arrested after crashing into a lampost, suit-clad office workers rubber-necking at a motorway pile-up.

Or paramedics tending to a 'lycra-clad' mother-of-two still in the road having being knocked down by a reckless car driver with a dangerous attitude towards other human beings because of their chosen mode of transport.

Let's look out for each other.

D. Gordon,
Ormskirk

Speed bumps aren't the answer - they cause more problems than they solve

TRAGIC though road accidents are, calling for speed bumps because of a solitary incident involving a van driver in the middle of the night is not an answer.

If he had suddenly come across them in the dark at whatever speed he was travelling at, then the accident would have been far worse.

These atrocious devices cause drivers to watch them rather than their surroundings and damage many vehicles by snapping their suspension - as well as adding to pollution.

Friends in the motor trade report a regular source of income fixing them, but worse, many people do not even know they are driving a dangerous vehicle until the MOT identifies the fault.

A speed camera may have more success at the crash location if speeding is a REGULAR feature.

On a separate note, I am constantly appalled at the poor driving habits of motorists. They are either going too slow, too fast or following each other in a line with marginal distance between them and the next vehicle.

It is time that compulsory re-testing was introduced - preferably after every accident where the police were called out!

Note, I am a car driver and a motorcycle rider.

Frustrated Road User,
Ormskirk

Plagued by gang of young vandals

WHAT are your children up to? Do you know?

For some time, there have been a number of incidents of vandalism and disturbance of the peace in the Noel Gate/Cherry Tree estate area, Aughton - usually in early evening.

A group of about eight young people, aged between 12 and 15, including two girls, have been throwing objects at house windows, banging on windows and doors, trespassing into gardens, smearing cars and generally causing alarm and distress to residents, not to mention their cockiness and cheek, when confronted.

The police have been informed of incidents.

These young people need to stop this mindless, attention-seeking, aggressive behaviour before they find themselves on the Young Offenders' Register, much to the shame of their families, their schools and of course, damage to their own future prospects.

If any resident finds their property targeted, they should call the police immediately.

Pound coin confusion

I WENT to the Co-op in Up Holland on Sunday, October 15 and had some old £1 coins.

I tried to use them to buy some flowers for my mother's birthday, she is buried in the Up Holland churchyard.

But they said I couldn't use them because the last day to use them was the Saturday even though it said on the television that the last day was Sunday.

I am an old age pensioner and I think this is disgusting.

I went to the bank at Skelmersdale and they took them and a supermarket also said they would have taken them.

Mrs S. Astle,

MP and councillors should focus on issues that really matter to residents

WHAT kind of MP have we got in Skem when the country is on about Universal Credit and the damage it is doing and she, as usual, is on about grass verges in the well-off areas?

Doesn't she know that a lot of people are worried? She should be getting assurances from the council that nobody will suffer while waiting the six weeks for their claims to go through.

Nobody should have to worry about being evicted through no fault of their own.

So, come on Rosie Cooper, do the job you were elected to do and protect your constituents.

Also I'd like to point out that while the councillors are getting more in expenses a lot of parents are not getting the bus passes that their children should have.

People who stay in Skelmersdale and whose children go to Ormskirk and Up Holland should be entitled to passes. Why have they not been told they are entitled to them?

These passes are free and it's the distance not your earnings that are taken into consideration.

I'd like to ask the council what they do with the money they get from the tax because I see everywhere else improving except Skelmersdale. Explain.

Charles Lattimer,
Skelmersdale

I DON'T think for one moment that my letter will be the only one on this week's column by Jim Sharpe.

I do hope he is aware that public transport as applied to West Lancashire and NOT Merseyside is a very sore point with West Lancashire Pensioners.

His dreadful misfortune of having to cope with the strikes by Arriva bus drivers makes us weep. The fact that he lives in Merseyside and has a pensioners travel pass that enables him to travel on any bus or train in the locality, must be a real hardship.

I will swap him my Now Card for his Merseyside travel pass tomorrow, but I bet he won't part.

Animal sanctuary's 'come and join us' appeal to volunteers

Report by Danielle Thompson

STAFF at a West Lancs animal sanctuary have thanked their volunteers for their time and hard work - and launched a fresh appeal for more to join them!

The team at Woodlands in Sandy Lane, Holmeswood care for a wide variety of small domestic and farm animals, including hundreds of hedgehogs.

Sally McDerby from the sanctuary said: "Our motto is, 'Helping one animal may not make a difference to the world, but it will make the world of difference to that one animal.'

"Although fairly simple, we believe that statement is something that we could all aspire to live by - be it with people or animals.

"Although the charity rescues, rehabilitates and releases or re-homes a variety of animals, the help and support that is seen day-in and day-out at this sanctuary is something that everyone involved can be very proud of.

"The permanent staff, are very lucky to have a team of dedicated volunteers who they have come to rely on. The support that is shown to the staff and animals, on a daily basis, is a massive help and not only that, but it also helps boost morale, especially when times get tough.

"And if you have animals yourself or work with them, you'll know that tough times can be quite common.

"From cleaning, to animal care, to fundraising, both the new and long-standing volunteers are invaluable to the staff and animals at Woodlands.

"Equally, the animals and staff can also make quite an impact on volunteers.

Woodlands volunteer Sarah in pursuit of and pursued by some feathery friends!

"Woodlands has been able to help people grow in confidence, with both people and animals, provide a stepping stone onto further learning and employment.

"Volunteers come from all ages and walks of life - from children through to those who have retired - and everyone can benefit from a feeling of belonging which can be so rewarding.

"From the team of staff and trustees, a very big, heartfelt thank-you to all the hard-working volunteers.

"And if you think you have time that you could spend at Woodlands Animal Sanctuary and become a part of the team, then please join us."

Adela's logo idea charms store boss

A PRIMARY school pupil's bright idea to give her local supermarket a topical look for Halloween proved a winner with store bosses and earned her a special treat.

Eight-year-old Adela Fletcher wrote to Booths store in Burscough with her design to alter the store's illuminated sign to Boo-ths, complete with a ghostly figure alongside.

The idea caught the attention of company chairman Edwin Booth and although it wasn't practical to change the sign at the Ringtail Retail Park store, a variation on Adela's logo design was adopted on all Booths' social media platforms for the period leading up to Halloween.

Mr Booth also wrote to Adela to thank her for her efforts and arranged for the Rufford CE Primary pupil and her family to enjoy a complimentary afternoon tea at the store.

Adela's parents, Chris and Suzanne, said: "She is loving seeing her idea being used and loves the fact it is on the Internet. All of her friends and family love it too and think she is very imaginative."

Tips to keep your pets calm and safe from harm on Bonfire Night

ANIMAL lovers in the borough are once again being urged to keep their pets safe from harm on Bonfire Night, Sunday, November 5.

West Lancs Council is issuing handy advice for owners to stop animals straying from their homes to find a safe place away from the loud noises.

Councillor Kevin Wright, the council's cabinet member for community safety, said: "Bonfire Night is a distressing time for animals, especially if fireworks are being set off over a number of evenings. The council's tips aim to help to ensure that pets and their owners have a stress-free time."

The council's advice for pet owners is as follows:

Councillor Kevin Wright

- Close all windows and curtains and put on some music, or the television, to mask the sounds of fireworks.
- If your pet shows any sign of fear, try to ignore their behaviour unless there is imminent danger - for example if they are likely to self-harm.
- Do not fuss over or try to reassure your pet when they are frightened.
- Never show anger if they appear frightened - this will only convince them that there is something to be afraid of.
- Make sure they are kept in a secure and safe environment at all times, so that they cannot bolt and escape in reaction to a sudden noise. If you have had your pet micro-chipped/tattooed you will certainly improve the chances of a safe return if they do escape. All dogs should have a collar and tag providing details of ownership.
- Set a good example and ignore the fireworks' noise yourself.
- Exercise your dog during daylight hours - never take them for a walk when fireworks are being let off.
- If you know of another pet that is not scared by noises and gets on well with yours, then keeping the two together during the evenings may help your animal to realise there's no need to be afraid.
- If your pet has been distressed in the past, please don't ignore the problem and you can seek advice from your vet.

Firework users are also being urged to act responsibly by using low-noise fireworks, picking up debris after it has cooled down and disposing of it safely, and following the safety guidelines for using fireworks at all times.

MP welcomes agency 'reprieve' for Alt Crossens flood pumps

ROSIE Cooper has welcomed the decision by the Environment Agency to continue to operate the West Lancashire Flood Pumps for an interim period.

Last month, the agency announced that it would continue to fund the pumps until all options for an alternative solution are open to them for consideration.

This followed a lengthy campaign by the West Lancs MP to ensure that the Alt Crossens flood pumps, which had previously been under notice for closure in summer 2017, were not closed without measures being put in place to prevent flooding to homes, farms and businesses in the borough.

Rosie Cooper said: "I welcome this news as it gives us some certainty if only in the short term that these pumps will not just be switched off and residents in West Lancashire just left to face floods in severe weather conditions.

"However, we must be mindful that this is just a short-term measure while the Government sorts out its legislation on who is responsible for what and how the flood pumps will operate in the future.

"I have previously campaigned hard for the setting up of an Internal Drainage Board (IDB) as the Environment Agency are keen to offload the responsibility of future management of the flood and drainage pumps in the Alt Crossens area. At this point though, Government legislation is blocking progress.

"Once Government sorts itself out the responsibility will lie with local agencies including the EA, Lancashire County Council and West Lancashire Borough Council to pull together and find a solution as doing nothing is not an option.

"We must protect people's homes and businesses. This is land that also generates £230 million of income and provides 2,500 jobs. This is a vital sector of our local economy.

"I will continue to work to ensure progress in Parliament to allow for West Lancashire to protect itself from further flooding."

Rosie Cooper at Crossens Pumping Station with Environment Agency staff.

New victims' suite underlines constabulary's commitment to tackling modern slavery in county

POLICE and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw, has visited a new modern slavery victims' suite to highlight the good work being done by Lancashire Constabulary following concerns raised by a national report about the way cases are dealt with.

The two-room suite in East Lancashire is designed to make modern slavery victims feel more at ease during what can be an extremely stressful time. It gives the police the capacity to conduct interviews in more neutral surroundings next to a room dedicated to making victims comfortable with a bed, cot, kitchen and lounge.

Mr Grunshaw said: "Tackling modern slavery and human trafficking is a key priority for us in Lancashire, with some fantastic work having already been done and the creation of this victims' suite is an important part of this.

Report by Henry James

"Traditionally, these offences have remained hidden and are often linked to wider organised crime. Lancashire Constabulary are working hard to bring these crimes into the light and taking action against those responsible.

"Setting up this new suite, which is already being used effectively, is another step forward in helping those being exploited through modern slavery."

It is hoped victims who have been trafficked or forced to work against their will can feel safe and secure which in turn will improve the chance of securing evidence against those responsible who are often linked to organised crime.

This facility builds on Lancashire Constabulary's track record of leading the fight against modern slavery and human trafficking.

The commissioner has funded two additional roles within the force to support investigative work in this area and training has been delivered to frontline staff and partners.

Detective Chief Inspector Mark Vaughton said: "We know modern slavery is happening today, and it's happening in Lancashire. We are committed to rooting out those individuals who choose to exploit others and we have dedicated officers working hard to remove this type of threat from our communities.

"This area of policing is complex and identifying modern slavery can be difficult, but we have had a number of successful prosecutions recently and there have been a number of victims who have been rescued from exploitation and are now rebuilding better lives with the right help and support.

"We would urge you to look closer, modern slavery could be happening right in front of you – whether that's in nail bars, car washes, rural businesses, brothels, massage parlours, or a property in your neighbourhood.

"Remember, if something doesn't seem right or you have a suspicion about trafficking or slavery; report your concerns to us."

National recognition for slimming guru Sue

A WEIGHT loss consultant who helps West Lancs residents to achieve their ideal weight has been recognised at a national event for Slimming World's most successful consultants.

Sue Allt supports more than 500 members in the organisation's Ormskirk and Skelmersdale groups to eat more healthily, become more active and build confidence.

In recognition of her efforts she was invited to Slimming World's exclusive Gold and Pearl Day 2017 at the Nottingham Belfry resort for the highest-achieving consultants.

As part of the day, themed around 'courage and kindness', Sue, a consultant for the Ormskirk St Anne's Group along with the Ashurst Group in Skelmersdale, was invited to share some of her knowledge from running her award-winning groups and to inspire other attendees to continue to ensure weight losses and members' success.

Guests at the event were treated to a healthy Food Optimising lunch and drinks reception at the Belfry resort, as well as hearing from the company's senior directors and the company's founder Margaret Miles-Bramwell.

Sue said: "Helping people from Ormskirk and Skelmersdale to achieve their dreams makes this the best job in the world and to be recognised nationally for doing something I love really feels fantastic.

Sue with her gold certificate

"Gold and Pearl day was such a special event to be part of - I spent most of the day smiling and I headed home absolutely brimming with ideas for helping my members.

"I know what it's like to struggle with your weight and, having lost three stone as a Slimming World member myself after joining a long time ago, I also know that with the right kind of support you can really make long-term healthy changes to lose weight and keep it off for good."

Cafe's talk 'menu' for the month ahead...

THE Well-Being Café situated at the Grove Youth and Community Centre, Station Approach, Burscough, is open each Wednesday between 2 and 4pm for informative talks and displays on a variety of subjects.

On Wednesday, November 1, Heather Reade will give a 'taster session' in Tai Chi and Chi Kung and this will be followed on November 8 with a talk on the origins and practice of reflexology by Jane Cox.

On November 15 Michael Dawson, founder of historical group, Images of Burscough and Surrounding Areas, will present a slideshow of old photos from Lathom and Burscough.

And on November 22, Lawrence Critchley, co-author with Michael Dawson of Ringtail to Retail, the story of HMS Ringtail, will present images from the history of the Royal Navy air base.

Everyone is welcome. For further enquiries telephone 07518920043 or email cyndereli@hotmail.co.uk.

Family firm floors rivals to win regional award!

A FAMILY-run flooring company with a branch in West Lancashire, has won a regional retail award.

The Walton Flooring Centre was named Retailer of the Year at the Merseyside Independent Business Awards.

And managing director, James Harper, is aiming to build on their success by opening a further seven shops in the next 18 months, across Cheshire and Greater Manchester, to add to the five they already have in Liverpool, West Lancs, Knowsley and Wirral.

The 30-year-old, who was also shortlisted for the Business Person of the Year award, said: "We are absolutely delighted to receive this award as external recognition of our hard work and determination and I am so proud to be able to share it with all our staff, suppliers and customers.

"The majority of our customers return to us, bringing friends and family with them. We have grown as a company under our own steam, without any external funding or investment. And we aim to stay independent, offering a standard of service better than the bigger brands on the High Street."

The Merseyside Independent Business Awards celebrate independent businesses, their owners and those who support them.

Care trust support for stress sufferers

TO mark National Stress Awareness Day (November 1) healthcare professionals at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust are reminding people of the stress management courses that are available.

People who are struggling with common stress-related problems can now access a six-week Stress Control Course for support.

The courses are run by the trust's Mindsmatter teams and help people to improve low mood, reduce stress and overcome poor sleep.

The six-weekly sessions also aim to encourage positive physical health and improve overall wellbeing, and are accessible to anyone aged 16 or over. They are run on various days, times and locations throughout Lancashire and St Helens.

Kieran Fleck, Mindsmatter Psychological Wellbeing Practitioner Lead at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust said: "Whether a person is feeling low, anxious or experiencing an overload at home or in their work place, it is important to recognise why it is happening in order to manage it. Our Stress Control courses help people to make changes to their lives and teach coping mechanisms in order to reduce stress.

"We have good evidence that the Stress Control course is a highly effective way for many people to make big improvements to how they feel and we are appealing to anyone who needs the support to get in touch.

"You won't need to share any personal information with other members of the class - just turn up, listen and try it out."

To access the workshop, people can refer in via the online referral form, by post, over the telephone or by visiting their GP. A brief welcome telephone call will be arranged to discuss times, dates, locations and to book your place.

To access the referral form or for more information about the interventions the service offers visit www.lancashirecare.nhs.uk/Mindsmatter.

Second restaurant at Moor Hall

THE multi award-winning Moor Hall in Aughton has opened a second restaurant following the refurbishment of its outer building.

The Barn (pictured, right) features an informal 65-seat dining room on the first floor of the converted building adjacent to the main manor house in Prescot Road.

There are also plans to include a ground-floor, bakery, meat-curing room and a mini brewery, while bosses say ingredients for the venue's menus will be sourced from local farmers.

OLD BED RECYCLING SERVICE

PC brigade have only succeeded in making life less colourful

IT'S a contradictory old world we live in isn't it?

While people seem to be getting coarser and, let's face it, nastier by the day - just look at the rapidly rising figures for violent crime and the seemingly de-rigour loudly spoken often disgusting language used not only on the street but regularly on television - in other ways we seem to be nearing a prudish, neo-puritan state of misery.

It honestly seems to me that in many ways these are two faces of the same coin. For the very people who apparently advocate us all to be allowed to express ourselves - 'do our own thing' - are sometimes the very ones who preach at us for saying, writing or doing things which are 'unacceptable' or 'inappropriate'.

But unacceptable to whom exactly? To the prim little busybody who utters this now feared word? For it only takes some jumped-up nonentity on a middle-brow TV panel or news programme to accuse somebody of being or saying something deemed by some opinionated bigot to be offensive to someone or some group, and we all think twice before repeating the faux-pas.

Because in these days student bodies and various think tanks fall over themselves to defend self-expression (do what you like no matter who it hurts) just so long as you stick to their narrow PC lines as to what is correct and proper.

The list of banned words and phrases grows almost daily. It's no wonder nobody tells jokes any more - I can't think of many that wouldn't fall foul of upsetting some group of people or other. Which didn't matter a few years ago because folk were quite capable of laughing at themselves. Until they were told that they shouldn't.

Consider for a moment what is happening in our society today. Various pressure groups have set themselves up to tell us what we can or must not say or write. Sometimes these can be groups who feel hard done by and sometimes they are groups telling another that they are hard done by but are apparently too thick to realise it.

There are fewer females or people of colour in the House of Commons. Very probably so. But have any of the groups fighting to redress this ever asked if the answer could be that fewer people of these groups actually WANT to be MPs? Ditto police persons.

See? It's catching. Personally, I see absolutely nothing wrong in having police men and police women, it gives you a mental picture of the kind of being you are talking about.

When, several years ago I put on a lot of weight, I was told, not only by friends but also total strangers, that I was getting fat. Well, I might have found that offensive and retired hurt into my shell. In fact, I actually found the fact that I was getting fat offensive - and did something about it.

What description could I give a police officer these days if I was mugged by a weighty, follicly-challenged, male of a colour different from mine wearing a skirt and high heels, without being locked up for expressing a whole bagful of 'isms' offensive to my attacker? Most definitely I would be guilty of all kinds of things 'unacceptable'.

And so we are all forced to think twice before opening our mouths or writing a line so as not to offend.

What those who have perpetrated this daft state of affairs and think they have changed everyone's hearts and minds don't realise is that this is not necessarily so. Until the thought police find some no doubt electronic way of discerning inner opinion, all they have really achieved is making life less colourful and more miserable.

Anyway, enough of this. On a lighter note, have you heard the one about the two...or perhaps better not.

Rotarians team up with school for polio project

PRESIDENT Kevin Scott and Rotarian Molly Rennie of Maghull & Aughton Rotary helped pupils from St Andrew's CE Primary School Maghull to plant 500 purple crocus bulbs as part of the World Polio Eradication Project.

Since Rotary pledged to eradicate the disease in the late 1980s more than 100 countries, including the UK, have been reported polio-free.

However, the wild polio virus still exists in Afghanistan, Nigeria and Pakistan with 10 new cases reported this year and up to 45 million children need to be vaccinated each year until 2020 to eradicate the disease completely.

When a child is vaccinated their little finger is marked with a purple dye, hence the Purple 4 Polio crocus project. For every dollar/pound raised the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation will match with a two-to-one donation.

Rotary members dig in to help pupils from St Andrew's CE Primary to plant purple crocus bulbs as part of the project to eradicate polio

Navy experiences helped Shaun write war thriller

Report by Danielle Thompson

A BUSINESSMAN from Tarleton has drawn on his experiences of serving in the Royal Navy to write a thriller set during the First World War.

Shaun Lewis, 57, co-owner of Dunscar Garden Centre, spent 20 years serving in ships and submarines, as well as working in intelligence.

He has now written his first novel, The Custom of The Trade set in the early years of the war and based around the tale of two cousins.

One survives a tragic accident on a submarine before being sent to the Dardanelles to fight the Turks. The other is a suffragette activist fighting for women's right to vote and overcoming misogyny in running the family shipyard.

Along the way the pair's relationship is tested by family, politics and war.

The book is based on the successful submarine campaign in the Sea of Marmara, Turkey, where four VCs were won.

Parts of the novel are also set in Lancashire and Merseyside.

Shaun said: "The novel includes facts about life in early submarines and the politics behind the determination to deny women the vote. Many local people don't know that Emily Pankhurst lived in Southport for a time.

"I started writing during the recession when business was quiet and it took 12 months to finish."

He has now nearly finished his second novel, a tale of naval intelligence and espionage.

Shaun will be giving a talk on The Custom of The Trade at a special dinner at the Dunscar Garden Centre, Southport New Road on Thursday, November 16, 7pm start. Tickets are £12 from the centre.

He will also be doing a book signing at the centre from noon to 3pm on Saturday, November 18.

The book is available from Amazon.

Care home group in running for recognition in seven categories at national awards event

THE chief executive and five members of staff from a healthcare group based in Sefton and West Lancs have reached the finals in seven categories of a national care competition.

Employees from the Athena Health Care Group, which runs care homes in both boroughs, have been nominated for the Great British Care Awards with winners to be announced at a ceremony in Manchester on Friday (November 3).

The group's chief executive, Steven Wylie has been nominated for Employer of the Year while other nominees are Fouad Saad (Newcomer Care Worker); Benn Mott (Care Home Manager); Fiona Cassels (Care Home Trainer); Elizabeth Littlejohns (Good Nurse Award); Lesley Malone (Front Line Leader Award); and a group award for Care Innovator.

Staff at Athena launched The Community Activities Hub earlier this year to bring together care home residents from both areas to make friends and enjoy day trips out, as well as seeking to keep older people active within the community.

Head teacher Phil Clarke, Reverend Pauline Bicknell and Pete Chalk with the School Council of Ormskirk West End Primary School and their Harvest Festival donations.

Harvest Festival celebration gives pupils food for thought

CHILDREN at an Ormskirk primary school have been learning of how their donations to the local foodbank will enhance the lives of others.

West End Primary School in Grimshaw Lane held a harvest festival celebration assembly for children, parents, friends and governors when donations of food were also collected.

Reverend Pauline Bicknell from Ormskirk Parish Church and Pete Chalk from Ormskirk Foodbank were the school's guests for the event.

Pupils read poems, told of their thoughts about harvest and sang songs they had been learning about harvest time.

Rev Bicknell led a discussion about where food comes from and said prayers, while Pete Chalk gave a talk to the children about the foodbank located at Ormskirk Parish Church and told of how in the previous month it had helped 200 families in the town.

Pete thanked the children for their donations of food and told them of how much this would mean to the many who needed help.

Headteacher Phil Clarke said: "The children have all enjoyed this learning journey of harvest and we are continually talking about our environment and community.

"The assembly enabled them to physically see and hear about how they have enhanced somebody's life for the better.

"They always love an opportunity to share what they have been learning about in school with their families and it was wonderful to see so many friends and family able to join us.

"I'm always very proud of the children at our school and its great we can share all the exciting and different things children learn at West End."

Comedy becomes a 'highlight of season'

Review by Ron Ellis

Wife after Death, by Eric Chappell
Southport Dramatic Club
Southport Little Theatre

AFTER the success of Eric Chappell's 'Theft' last season, Southport Dramatic Club have chosen another comedy by the same author which is even funnier.

Popular comedian, Dave Thursby, a 'national treasure', has died and friends and colleagues gather at his house to pay their respects before his funeral.

Peter Hoyle was outstanding as scriptwriter Harvey Barrett, always ready to point out what a great guy Dave was whilst being careful to point out how much he himself had contributed to the comic's success.

Kathy Felton-Aksoy, who played Harvey's wife, was the foil to her husband's self-importance, suitably contemptuous about his reluctance to look at 'his closest friend' lying in the open coffin beside them.

Mike Yates was suitably earnest as Kevin, Dave's agent, proud to have retained Dave's business over the years. Everybody loved Dave but, as Harvey said, 'Do we ever really know anybody?'

Well, these guests certainly didn't know the real Dave, that is until a mysterious lady turns up (Jacquie Wade looking too young and glamorous for this role) and starts demolishing a few myths about the deceased whereupon mayhem results and what is left of Dave ends up in an unfamiliar resting place.

Suzanne Grey was the grieving widow, Laura, who made the most of the spotlight to flaunt her expensive lifestyle, and Helen Bennett was Kevin's wife who helped Dave with his work in the stationery department.

Directed by Steve Pritchard, this was well up to Eric Chappell's high standard and this riotously funny play must be one of the highlights of the season.

Star Rating: 9 out of 10. Don't miss it before it finishes on Saturday, November 4.

Sunwook Kim

Pianist holds the key to village hall concert

PARBOLD Douglas Music is delighted to welcome Sunwook Kim back to the Auditorium at the Village Hall on Saturday, November 18 at 7.45pm to perform a programme of Beethoven sonatas for which he has become justly famous.

On his first visit in May 2012, Sunwook gave wonderful performances of late sonatas by Beethoven and Schubert. This year we look forward to Ludwig van Beethoven's much loved 'Moonlight' sonata and the great and technically demanding 'Appassionata' sonata. These will follow one of Ferruccio Busoni's piano transcriptions of one of Johann Sebastian Bach's Toccatas, Adagios and Fugues for organ.

Sunwook won the 2006 Leeds International Piano Competition aged just 18, becoming the competition's youngest winner for 40 years, as well as its first Asian winner. His Leeds final performance of Brahms's 1st Piano Concerto with The Hallé and Sir Mark Elder won unanimous praise.

During the last ten years, he has built a world-wide career and outstanding reputation both as a solo artist and playing concertos with leading orchestras around the world. Sunwook Kim's Beethoven recordings have received outstanding reviews and awards from the BBC magazine. He made his Proms debut in 2014.

He is now based in London with his young family. Recently he has performed in Berlin in a duo recital with violinist Guy Braunstein, followed by a performance in East Anglia in Britten's Piano Concerto at the Aldeburgh Festival.

After performing in Parbold, Sunwook tours in South Korea to accompany the bass, Kwangchun Youn, and to play the great Brahms Piano Concerto No 2 with Osmo Vanska and the Seoul Philharmonic. At the end of 2017 he will perform the same Bach & Beethoven programme as in Parbold in Kioi Hall, Tokyo, a large hi-tech space for live music created by modern acoustic design technology.

Concert tickets are £16 and £5 for young persons and students.

To book tickets, visit the website www.parbold-douglasmusic.org;or call 01257 498452.

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

I'VE SPENT the last few weekends trawling the classifieds and the obscurely written online ads, followed up by the inevitable phone calls and bartering over prices. Only it isn't cars I've been looking at this time.

After scrimping and saving for what feels like an eternity I'm finally looking to grow up a bit and get on the property ladder. Obviously I'm looking for something that isn't going to fall apart after six months and isn't located four hours away from the office, but the added complication of being a petrolhead and a classic car owner means I'm also looking for something that seems to have slipped off the radar as far as the rest of the property market's concerned.

Yes, I want a garage. They used to use these quaint old facilities back in the days of Pathe newsreels for the storage of your grandad's Morris 1000, but in 2017 you might as well be asking for the property to come with an outside bog and a front parlour. Which means that virtually every "garage" I've been to see has been anything but.

One I looked at had an extended living room built across its front half, meaning its entrance had effectively been reduced to three feet wide. Another had been converted into a music room, complete with layers of soundproofing on every wall! Brilliant for attacking a Triumph Dolomite's undersides with an angle grinder without ever annoying the neighbours, or at least it would've been had the entire front end not been bricked up and finished off with a standard, person-sized door instead!

My particular favourite was a promising up-and-over door that lifted to reveal a garage that met a concrete wall four feet later, making the Little Tikes Cozy Coupe just about the only car capable of fitting inside. On the other side of that wall was a gym, just in case you're interested.

But what united each and every one of the homeowners was their genuinely perplexed reaction when I told them what I wanted to use a garage for – surely you'd have to be INSANE to put a car inside, wouldn't you? Why would you want to waste all those exercise facilities and recording studios on somewhere to store a vehicle?

I've genuinely lost count of the hours I've spent going to look at houses advertised as having garages that are anything but.

Even the newer ones should be able to swallow something sensibly-sized without the need to knock down concrete walls.

Is it wrong to expect anything less of a garage?

I'm so cross about it that I might actually construct a mood room in my new house where I can rant about the subject in peace.

Obviously, I know just the place to put it…

Skem share spoils in six goal thriller after a frantic finish

Skelmersdale United 3
Radcliffe Borough 3

SKELMERSDALE United's first home league encounter away from Stormy Corner brought a six goal thriller, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

Playing at Marine's stadium in Crosby, Radcliffe were 2-1 up with only 15 minutes left before a dramatic closing stage brought three goals as both sides cancelled each other out.

Skelmersdale started well and but for a fine near-post save from Radcliffe goalkeeper Ryan Jones they may well have taken the lead when Bevan Burey cut in from the left and hit a vicious right-foot shot.

As it was Radcliffe took the lead with their first viable attack in the 13th minute. Mason Fallon put a ball over the top and James Hooper appeared to beat the Skem offside trap. Faced with goalkeeper Lee Callum Roberts leaving his line, Hooper lifted the ball over him and into the net.

The first half was closely fought, both teams going toe-to-toe for supremacy for most of the time. Each keeper was called into action too, Skem's Roberts saving from Carl Peers and Keith Kearney, Radcliffe's Jones thwarting Andy Owens a couple of times.

The second half was much more open and Skelmersdale set the mark very early on when they levelled matters up with a well-worked goal and strike from Jack Fleming. The left back took possession in his Skem's half of the pitch and played the ball to centre-forward Andy Owens. Fleming carried on his run and Andy Owens returned the ball. Taking one touch to bring the ball down, Fleming unleashed a powerful low shot into the far corner of the net from about 15 yards.

Fleming looks a promising young full-back and he followed up a fine debut performance at Tadcaster last week with another here, his runs created some problems for Radcliffe; and for Skem only a brave dive at Andy Owens' feet by Jones prevented him from scoring until later on. The visitors' best chance up until the 75th minute came when Roberts saved from Callum Grogan's point-blank header.

The match became literally anybody's in the last quarter-hour. Radcliffe went in front again with a goal that Skem could justifiably say was lucky. A ball in from the left was going clear but hit a defender in the back and fell perfectly to Kurt Sherlock and all he had to do was turn and lash it at goal from four yards to make it 2-1 - a gift.

Dave Powell's Skem don't give up easily though and in the 80th minute they were awarded a penalty. Andy Owens pounced on a loose ball and after he entered the area he was wrestled to the ground by former Skem player Grogan.

From the spot he comfortably made it 2-2.

With momentum behind them Skem pressed on. After 86 minutes a neat passing move started by Callum Mahoney was finished by Mahoney, playing the ball under advancing keeper Jones to make it 3-2 to Skelmersdale.

However, the scoring was not over. Just as the added time was announced, Radcliffe crossed from the right and the ball was headed down. It fell to Peers and the midfielder with a sort ofpart toe-poke part lob sent the ball high over Roberts and into the net to make it 3-3.

Both teams would have felt disappointed to not win, but both had salvaged a point too. It was one of those games that the awarding of one point for each team seemed completely inadequate for their enterprise.

But If the managers didn't enjoy conceding the late goals, you can be sure the crowd did.

Both sides facing tricky away games

SKELMERSDALE United supporters will have to make a trip down the M58 again on Saturday if they want their football fix.

Dave Powell's team take on Mossley at the Marine Travel Stadium whilst they still don't have access to their Stormy Corner ground.

Burscough also take to the motorways with a trip down the M6 to play promotion-chasing Hanley Town in the NorthWest Counties Premier Division. The Linnets have had a difficult schedule recently, but - not including last night when they were at home to Barnoldswick Town - they had won two of their last four games, losing the other two by slender 2-1 margins.

It is reported that Dave Powell is beginning to see some light of his long injury tunnel at Skem. Michael Vaughan-Muscat we are told has a good chance of being fit for Saturday, while Steve Gillespie and Lewis Codling might well be fit again in around two or three weeks.

We are also told that over the last week or so, Jason Jeffries has moved on to join Rhyl in the Welsh Premier League and Jack Watts is now on the books of City of Liverpool.

Burscough are hoping to have centre-forward Liam Diggle available again for the trip to Staffordshire at the weekend. Contacts at Victoria Park tell us that the draw hasn't been made yet for the next round of the Liverpool County FA Senior Cup, though in the North-West Counties League Macron Cup, Burscough are away to Squires Gate on Tuesday, November 21.

Both Skelmersdale and Burscough are without a midweek game next week, Burscough play at home to Maine Road on Saturday, November 11 but Skelmersdale don't know yet whether they will have a game because their planned opponents on that day Atherton Collieries are still involved in the FA Trophy.

Luckless Linnets lose out after conceding late goal

Burscough 1
City of Liverpool 2

LUCKLESS Linnets were left to rue conceding a late goal as they lost out to local rivals, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

In the tenth minute Linnets left-back Jamie Clark sent a left-foot shot curling past the wall and into the net, leaving the COL goalkeeper and his wall completely wrong footed to make it 1-0.

For the next quarter-hour Burscough dominated. COL keeper Graeme McCall saved at Terry Cummings' feet in the 12th minute, next the keeper held a shot from Henerty after Neil Hulme set him up, then after a cross-field ball McCall saved at Hafeez Hamzat's feet.

COL started to recover and Craig Robinson had a shot blocked by Josh Dunroe. Then in the 37th minute they equalised via a slick counter attack. Karl Noon cleverly held the ball up, waited his chance then put John McGrath into the perfect position to score and he didn't need asking twice.

For the most part the second half was end-to-end and unless they had very high standards, no spectator could say that they weren't entertained.

In the 67th minute Samberg made a near-post save from Connolly and play switched quickly, Brady found Cummings with a ball his father would have been proud of, Cummings shot beat keeper McCall, but frustratingly his shot hit the foot of the post.

Burscough probably did begin to tire in the last quarter-hour, but arguably they were entitled to after their schedule of the previous 10 days. Rex Puissance did well to out strength COL forward Nevitt on 75 minutes, then Jack Watts put a shot over the home crossbar as the pressure mounted, but Burscough were still a force on the counter attack.

City of Liverpool got their winner with five minutes to go and it was the ultimate goal-line scramble. Samberg saved on his line, two forwards went in for the rebound followed by three defenders, after about ten seconds the ball rolled clear of the chaos and with so many people now on the floor, a unchallenged Noon put the ball high into the net from about four or five yards.

It was a cruel way to lose a game and even more so when you consider how well Burscough had played. Dunroe might have rescued a point late on but that was really only a half-chance. It has been said here before, Burscough have won four cup games this season, surely that first league cannot be far away.
